

Introductory Letter from Sir Isaac Newton for April 2006

Through VRC

As you are finding religion has definitely involved people finding their own niche, but more than that, to convert their thinking from non believers, to believers, means that something is involved in the process. What is it that begins the process? Actualising thought patterns comes when two elements are brought together. The formulation of a belief in themselves as part of a connection, but what makes this connection start?

Its this you need to look at. What gives that first impulse to allow a crossing of thought . . . God and I are One? Is it that, or is it a remembrance of a connection? Even down to the impulses of individuals to cross over and begin an association. All these functional thoughts you need to look at.

I am Isaac Newton, and I do ask this, that you set a new regime of thought, whereby all factors are looked at. The first impulse and what follows. It involves past conditioning. It also is formulated by current circumstances, but now more than anything growth comes from this study, and its vitally important that you as facilitator look deeply into the back ground matters which motivate people to look and feel a connection to God, as opposed to a religion. Others will become involved in the research as time goes on, and if you come armed with facts and theories it encourages others to do the same.

My purpose in your guidance period is to help you formulate a different way of looking at matters, and since this is my expertise, science and religion, I asked for this to have input into this aspect. My noted moments of realization of a connection came not through a church, but through a momentary glance at a problem associated with critical matter, and then spread out from there.

This group discussion seemingly superficial to begin with, will with time evoke deep responses from individuals, but also bring out as time goes on, the inhibitions and secular thoughts of many, leading to discussions taking a turn if touchy elements are broached. So we wish to appoint , Kim to this role as chief scribe and chairperson, if she will do this, because she has the background this lifetime with religion to be sensitive to others feelings. She also has prepared many lifetimes in the capacity as scribe/ teacher/ philosopher.

This is my request, please see to it that there is a paper printed out to be presented to each person, with elementary questions ( or part there of) to be answered. These are they.

( These enquiries are to aid all participants to feel at ease and learn to be comfortable with each other, a getting to know you exercise. )

Why do I feel so disempowered when I speak to others?

Having a soul connection

Expression comes from God

My path is clear

Religion makes me feel

God and I are one

Fear of speaking out makes me feel

Avoidance of my soul's destiny allows me to have

At what moment did you decide that life came with an attachment to God, in whatever way you conceive of Him or Her?

How did the process happen to you personally?

Was and is it an ongoing process?

What for you is the most fundamentally important aspect of living life as a . . . . . religious/spiritual personage?

These questions we ask be prepared and given room to be answered with thought, deep thought. So ask the first person who has the first question to keep the question until these are answered. We want a pure response, not one influenced by others - unspoiled or influenced.

My role is to guide you in deep matters of faith, where it relates to a scientific background. Leonardo Da Vinci's role it to guide you with aspects of joint and group collective consciousness, linked to problems associated with this - in other words he will take the more difficult areas regarding religious thought, stemming from mass consciousness and its repercussions upon humanity, and how to create a new mass consciousness.

Sandro Botticelli will take the area of response of individuals to a God inspired calling - a direct line such as you have, where little influence has come from religious indoctrination. This is one area which incites great pain, and therefore must be handled sensitively - A skill both Leonardo and I are not well know for in our time on earth. We as personalities with developed skills divide up the problem, and give insights to you for others to help ease the way through. At times we will give guidance directly into the group, and send energy, inspiration, visions, dreams, and sometimes words, but the sum total of our joint skills will aid you as facilitator, and as time goes on develop in each person who comes greater skills.

We will actualise for them an energy alignment, and then promulgate this energy so that it breaks down negative cycles of thought. This group discussion will meet once a month to begin with, and around September go into fortnightly meetings for those who wish to aid humanity with their skills and love. After all love is the movement, and it is also the energy that empowers it in concentrated form.

So can I suggest you look at doing this please, type up this entire message for inclusion in the folder and add your name as facilitator / message bearer, and ask Kim at your earliest convenience to do this job for us. And ask Michelle if she will aid her as time goes on in organisation and office function. These are the two women we have chosen because of prior experience with us, and skills. Thank you for taking this formulative message, and let me say Holy, Holy, Holy is the Lord God of Hosts.

I am happy to be so given the opportunity to empower your direction personally.
